

Frieden Engineering offers over 20 years of experience within the Construction and Building Industry. We have gained experience through working with some of the leading Construction and Engineering companies in Canada. It has given us the exposure to various unique and special projects that require attention to detail and effective solutions. We are able to assess projects needs and deliver promptly to our clients. Our knowledge of various formwork and falsework systems allow for optimal design solutions for any non-typical or typical projects.

Frieden Engineering works with various Construction companies which started off working with concrete formwork. It has now branched out to structural design, Construction sequencing, and/ or restoration. Our services and scope can vary to each project and is flexible to meet the needs of our clients.
